

Suggested Interview Questions for interviews with Stan Craig

Based on his book "ForeTalk' -The Seven Critical Conversations for Living in the Season of Now

"What started you on this journey-why is this topic important for you?"

'What do we mean when we say, end-of-life planning?"

"Is this something that seniors and seniors only should consider?"

"Why is end-of-life planning so neglected today?"

"How do you begin these difficult conversations?"

"What kind of trouble do people find themselves in by not doing effective end-of-life planning? "

"Why are end-of-life conversations so important to a family's financial well-being?"

"Should everybody have a will? And what makes a will a proper will?"

"In your book, you state there are 10 estate planning mistakes what are they? What are the most common estate planning mistakes?"

"Should everybody have an attorney when it comes to end of life planning?"

"Most people have heard of a power of attorney, what is the difference between that and a durable power of attorney?"

"What is a durable power of attorney for finances and why is it that most of us of never heard of it?"

'Should everyone have life insurance? What other kind of insurance should people consider?'

"What are digital assets and why are they important?"

"When it comes to generosity and giving, you say in your book that individuals can increase their income by giving a gift to a charitable organization? How does that happen?"

"What is a living will and what's the difference between a living will and a durable power of attorney for healthcare?"

Contact:

Stan Craig

Email: stan@stancraig.com

Phone: 910-540-1447

Website: www.StanCraig.com